CONGRESSMAN RANDALL URGES BONDS FOR GOOD ROADS IN L. A. COUNTY

Before a large audience in the main exhibit room of the Antelope Valley fair, Congressman Charles H. Randall urged his hearers to support the bonds for additional highways in this county. He said in part:

"Just a little figuring with pencil and paper will convince any voter that Los Angeles county needs more good roads. It is amazing but true that our 500 miles of paved roads would only provide liberal parking space for the 50,000 automobiles of this county. To be specific, there is just room on these highways for one machine to every fifty lineal feet of roadway. This accounts for the great number of accidents, for the roads are congested and rendered hazardous for even the most experienced driver. This condition will grow rapidly worse, for new autos of the bus, truck, jitney, pleasure and private classes are being added at a rate of more than a thousand a month. The auto bus business alone is to see a most remarkable development over the county and state boulevards. I am informed that nearly 50 of these now run daily between Los Angeles and Pomona and intermediate towns. It is easy to see that positive dangers confront us simply through the lack of good road mileage.

"Take the comparative investment in good roads and in automobiles in this county, for illustration. Conservatively speaking, it is reasonable to say that the county's investment in paved highways ought to equal the investment in vehicles which use those roads. Yet we have only five million dollars invested in good roads, while our citizens have fifty million dollars invested in automobiles. The discrepancy is not at all creditable to the richest county west of Cook county, Illinois.

"Our perspective of things is too much contracted in this county. Here we have an assessed valuation of eight hundred millions of dollars. We have not a mile of paved highway in the beautiful mountain sections of this county. San Bernardino county, with only sixty-seven million dollars assessed valuation, has more than a hundred miles of perfect roads in the San Bernardino mountains. With less than one-tenth of our wealth, that county has provided the famous "100 mile Rim of the World" drive. We have scenery equal to any in the south in our Sierra Nevada range, yet we leave it in an inaccessible condition for our millions of people and our thousands of tourists.

"The magnificent highways of Switzerland—a country less than double the area of Los Angeles county alone—have served as a principal magnet to draw two hundred and seventy-five million dollars of American tourist money to Europe annually. We have a dozen Switzerlands in the mountains of California. Why not provide driveways through them and make this in truth the playground of the world?

"The provision for road bonds to be voted on October 26 ought to be adopted from the standpoint of safety alone, to say nothing about progress and development of which we so proudly boast. The amount provided is a mere bagatelle when compared to our great wealth."

"The holiday spirit" is already abroad, as was evidenced last Friday by the enthusiastic suggestions and plans made by the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church for their annual Christmas sale. The day was profitably spent, shaping plans for the sale and a pleasant social hour enjoyed as the noon luncheon was served.

VISOR LODGE PLANS MUCH WORK FOR COMING WINTER

Visor Lodge 293, Knights of Pythias, are preparing for a strenuous winter's work. Many important events are on the program and all committees are working over time.

Next Monday evening, October 25, the committee—Samuel Brown, A. E. Coffey and C. E. Nicholson—are preparing a smoker for all lodge members and visiting K. P.'s.

A committee composed of Robert Danner, Edw. Shipman and Harry Shaffer are arranging for a high class minstrel and vaudeville during November.

Visor's crack Rank of Knight team, composed of twenty-five members, have been invited to put on the work at the new lodge being organized in Van Nuys.

The lodge has been divided into three sections for a membership contest which will live up to things wonderfully. Brother A. J. McAdams, captain of Reds; Brother Samuel Brown, captain of yellows; Brother C. C. Rittenhouse, captain of Blues.

A committee on arrangements appointed last Monday evening at the K. P. regular meeting are working up elaborate plans for a dance to be given Thursday evening, October 28.

TROPICO SCHOOL NOTES

NOTE—These items are written by the pupils of the school and all pupils are urged to contribute each Tuesday.

Tuesday was Apple Day and Mrs. Curtis' pupils surprised her with a shower of the beauties.

We boys are looking forward with pleasure to the week vacation beginning Nov. 8. We love our teachers, but oh, you holidays. The occasion is a Southern California Teachers Institute at San Diego.

The enrollment this year is larger than last year at this time. It is holding around the 300 mark.

The recent pencil sale netted the playground committee a neat profit. Our schools sold over $20 worth. Miss Bowerfield's and Mrs. Curtis' rooms led with $3.65 and $2.75 respectively.

Miss Newell is still quite sick in the Burbank sanitarium. She will not return to her sixth grade work for a week yet. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Our base ball boys have just opened a seven game "world" series with the Park school. They won their first game and will try to make it four straight.

HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY ELECT OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

At the annual election of officers for the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Tropico Methodist church, the officers were filled as follows: President, Mrs. Mary M. Cole; vice-president, Mrs. Valeria Kopp; recording secretary, Mrs. E. B. Moore; corresponding secretary, Miss Elsie Anderson; mite box secretary, Mrs. A. M. Phillips; treasurer, Mrs. J. A. BALL GAME SUNDAY THE BEST HELD SO FAR THIS SEASON

Tropico school and Park avenue school are playing a seven-game series at the playground on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Monday's game was won by the Tropico school boys.

One of the snappiest ball games of the season was played on the home grounds last Sunday, when Tropico crossed bats with Harlow Cafe. Among the many features of the game was the sensational running catch of C. Flinders, which drew the applause of the entire crowd. The boys played a quick game and are a credit to Tropico. Come out and root for your home team. Following is the score by innings:

Next Sunday's game will be with Arlington Heights.

FIRST STEPS TAKEN FOR THE EXTENSION OF BRAND BOULEVARD

On Friday, November 5, at 10 a. m., in the Tropico City hall, the State Railroad Commission, Mr. Gordon presiding, will conduct a hearing in reference to the Southern Pacific Railroad company granting a permit to install a lawful crossing in Tropico where the Los Feliz road now crosses the Southern Pacific tracks. The securing of a legal crossing at this point is one of the steps necessary to be taken in the extension of Brand boulevard to Los Angeles. It is expected that members of the Glendale, Los Angeles Brand Boulevard Extension committee and all others interested in the proposed boulevard will be present at this hearing.

Mr. H. H. Murphy of Bushnell, Ill., a brother-in-law of J. J. Burke, visited the Burke family last week. After making an extended trip through Canada and the northwest, he visited San Francisco and Los Angeles, and now on his way home through the Southern states.

Miss Cora Hickman sailed on the same boat and will be in attendance at the big Eastern Star conclave in Frisco, while Mrs. Imier and family are doing the fair.

KENNEL ASSOCIATION TO HAVE EXHIBITION IN NOVEMBER

The Ladies' Kennel Association of Southern California will hold its eighth show in the old Robinson building, Los Angeles, during November.

Entries are being taken at the Lankershim Hotel for the next ten days. Reservations have been made by several Tropico dog fanciers.

Roy Gaskill, superintendent of the show, advises that many entries are coming in from the north and east.

The show promises to be one of the most successful ever held in Southern California.

W. C. Anderson of Gardena avenue will enter several cocker spaniels.

BIG EPWORTH LEAGUE BANQUET TO BE STU- PENDOUS AFFAIR

The committees in charge of the great thousand-plate Tri-District Epworth League banquet, which is to be held on Tuesday evening, November 2, in Hamburger's Cafe Beautiful, Los Angeles are authority for the repeated assertion that the program details for that event are happily working out in a manner which far exceeds their fondest expectations, and the program will not on that occasion be changed greatly from its present outline.

Of the thirty-two Methodist bishops who have been invited to be present, eighteen of the nineteen from whom replies have been received have signified their positive intention of honoring this, the largest body of young people ever congregated in Southern California on such a similar occasion, by their presence.

Many reservations have been made from the local chapters of the Epworth League, and reports from the three district cabinets verify the early prediction that the number of reservations would far exceed the thousand-plate goal before October 25, the last date upon which Epworthians can include themselves in this enthusiastic and fortunate company.

The reception hour has been changed from 6:45 p. m. to 6, and the guests will be seated at the tables at 7 o'clock, the fourth vice-presidents of the two hundred or more chapters represented, acting as a committee to receive. Prior to the banquet hour and between courses music will be given by a thirty-piece orchestra from the First Methodist Sunday school of Los Angeles, under the direction of Prof. Arthur M. Perry.

The real feast of the evening will begin, however, when Lloyd E. Noble, president of the Los Angeles District Epworth League and chairman of the banquet committee, introduces the first speaker of the evening, Bishop Stuntz of Buenos Aires, South America. Following his address will be a second, this by Bishop Bristol, National president of the Epworth League, and toasts will be heard from each of the other bishops present, which will include the following, besides an unnumbered who are yet to be heard from: Bishop Burt of Hastings, Mich.; Bishop Cooke of Portland, Ore.; Bishop Cranston of Washington, D. C.; Bishop Hamilton of Boston; Bishop Henderson of Chattanooga; Bishop Hughes of San Francisco; Bishop Leets of Atlanta; Bishop Luccock of Helena, Mont.; Bishop McConnell of Denver; Bishop McDowell of Evansville, Ind.; Bishop Quayle of St. Paul; Bishop Shepard of Kansas City; Bishop Warne of New York; Bishop Berry of Philadelphia; Bishop Thirkfield of New Orleans; Bishop Wilson of New York; Bishop Waterhouse of the Methodist Church South, and Bishop Nuelson of Zurich, Switzerland.

NON-PARTISAN MEETING FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22

There will be a non-partisan meeting at the Tropico school house Friday evening, October 22, at which time speakers well known and versed will discuss the referendums and amendments on the ballots to be voted at the coming election. Everybody is invited to come out.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sprowl Morgan of Acacia street have had as their house guests Miss Bertha Krehbiel of Cincinnati. These young ladies, who are nieces of Mrs. Morgan, are enjoying an extended tour of the west under the chaperonage of Miss May Joselyn.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF GLENDALE ELKS IS CELEBRATED

Enthusiasm and good-fellowship prevailed at the excellent entertainment provided by Lodge 1289, Order of Elks, last Thursday night in the local lodge rooms. The occasion was the third anniversary of the founding of the lodge in Glendale. There was a large attendance, about 250 being present. A number of Elks from the Universal Film company added to the variety of the entertainment.

Mr. Stephen C. Packer, exalted ruler, presided, and after opening the meeting handed the charge of the evening's entertainment to Dr. H. G. Martin, in his capacity as toastmaster. Mr. M. F. Shannon, past exalted ruler of No. 99, Los Angeles, gave the address of the evening. He spoke of the remarkable progress that had been made by Lodge 1289, and foretold for it a much greater growth in the future. Replying to Mr. Shannon, Dr. Martin thanked him for the kind things he had said of the lodge and opened the entertainment of the evening, calling for the program.

Under the supervision of Mr. E. Wolbach, an excellent program had been prepared. Earl Hawk, the blind baritone, sang several pleasing numbers. Mr. Max Asher of the Universal Film company gave a most amusing exhibition of the magician's art. Rube Ward of Glendale entertained the company with some clever cartoons and a monologue. The Glendale quartet sang with their usual smoothness and dramatic force.

Another magician from the Universal company gave a highly original act, in the course of which he performed some very bewildering tricks. Miss Lake, a member of the same film company, who very graciously consented to come over to the meeting with Mr. Max Asher, was greeted with much enthusiastic applause for her wonderful dramatic singing. Miss Lake is known as the "Lady Elk," having been duly initiated into the mysteries of the order. She wears the badge and carries the card of the Elks.

At the close of the performance the meeting adjourned to refreshment. A substantial turkey supper had been provided and good-will and merriment pervaded the remainder of the proceedings, which lasted almost until midnight.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB HOLD DELIGHT- FUL CARD PARTY

A delightful card party was given Friday evening, October 15, under the auspices of the Thursday Afternoon Club, at the home of Mrs. O. E. Clemens on Eulalia street.

Fifty ladies and gentlemen spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening, and Mrs. Kimberly won the ladies' prize and Mr. A. E. Boyce the prize for gentlemen.

At the close of the playing, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses of the evening, Mesdames O. E. Clemens, F. B. McKenney, Chas. A. Phillips of Tropico, D. H. Smith of Glendale and E. V. Barnes of Casa Verdugo.

The proceeds of this social affair will go to the building fund of the club. The next card party will be at the home of Mrs. W. M. Kimball.

Mrs. E. H. Weston is entertaining Mrs. William Marsh Burns of Chicago, who with her son and daughter, Treat and Betty, will be guests in this charming home for a week or more, and Mrs. Weston is planning many pleasant affairs for them.

The Temporary Quarters of a Football Man

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

Johnny Hackaway was an athlete and a football enthusiast. He played a match game on the last day in November, in which he carried his team through on his own shoulders and so excited their gratitude that they carried him on their own shoulders. So interested had he been in the coming game that he slept but little the night before from thinking of it and after it was over went home late from talking of it.

It was midnight when Johnny passed a house which was being moved from one side to another and which occupied nearly the entire width of the street. So dead tired and sleepy was he that he was tempted to go no farther, but climb to the front door, effect an entrance and find a resting place for the night. But, having not much farther to go, he trudged on till he reached his home. Feeling for his door key, he remembered that he was in football togs, with no pockets and consequently no key.

Knowing that there was no one inside within sound of the bell, he went back to the house on blocks, but found it locked. He broke a pane of glass, put in his hand and opened the window. Inside he found matches and, scratching one, saw that the house was being moved with some of the furniture left in it. A lamp stood on a table, which he lighted, then went upstairs. On the top floor he found a bed that suited him and, throwing himself on it, was asleep in two minutes.

It was 1 o'clock on Saturday morning when Johnny sank to slumber. When he awoke he heard church bells ringing. He rubbed his eyes and looked out through a window. The surroundings were not what they were when he had gone to bed. There was a church opposite, and there had been only dwellings. Moreover, persons were going into the church with prayer books in their hands.

There was a sound of dainty footsteps on the stairs, and the door was opened. A girl, evidently preoccupied, came in and for a moment didn't notice Johnny. When she did she gave a cry and made for the door. Johnny stopped her.

"Will you kindly tell me what day this is?" he asked.

As soon as the girl could find her voice she told him it was Sunday. Noting that he was in football costume, she concluded that he was not a burglar and became more composed.

"I reckon," he continued, "that I have slept about thirty hours. I entered this house when it was on Hinton street, and now it seems to be somewhere else. How did you get into it?"

"We came in last night after the house was put on the lot. We belong here."

"And slept in it all night?"

"Yes. We didn't need to use this room and didn't come up here."

"Well, I'll be jingled!"

"You're John Hackaway, the great football player, aren't you?"

"I'm Hackaway and I play football. How did you know that?"

"I saw you play in the big game the day before yesterday. You were splendid. I shouted myself hoarse when they carried you off the gridiron on their shoulders. Won't you come down to breakfast? We're late this morning. We didn't get settled very early last night."

"You're very kind. I invited myself to a bed; I won't sponge on you for breakfast."

But the girl had gone to the door and shouted:

"Mother, Mr. Hackaway, the great football player, is up here. I'm going to bring him down to breakfast."

Johnny listened for the reply. It was this:

"Oh, my, goodness gracious! I knew that would be the result of her infatuation. Pa, Molly's gone crazy over football. Go up and bring her down. Quick! Maybe she'll jump out the window."

John and the girl laughed, and John proposed that he go downstairs and show himself. So she led the way to the main floor, where a woman was in the kitchen frying griddlecakes. When she saw the football giant she dropped the turner and cried out:

"Oh, dear! Have I gone daft too?"

Molly went into the kitchen, and between her fits of laughing John heard her tell her mother what had happened, adding, "Just think, ma, what an honor—to have such a wonderful man for a guest and not know it!"

"And give him a ride to boot," remarked John.

An introduction to the members of the family followed, and presently they all sat down to breakfast.

"Fine location," remarked John, feeling somewhat embarrassed at breakfasting under such circumstances with strangers.

"We think we'll like it," was the reply.

"Much finer than the one from which you came."

Molly snickered.

John could have eaten all there was on the table, but he contented himself with his share, remembering that he could piece it out in a couple of hours with dinner.

The rest of this story occupied several years, or, rather, a lifetime, for John and Molly. John was invited to come again now that they were settled, and he availed himself of the invitation. The old folks are dead, and John and Molly, his wife, occupy the house.

THE VALUE OF SALT IN THE BATHROOM.

Salt is not only a necessity in the kitchen, but it will work wonders in the bathroom. It is the cheapest and best of nerve-tonics and the finest of skin lotions. Salt is to beauty in the bathroom just what it is to food in the kitchen. In fact, it is the solution offered by nature to most of our beauty and health queries.

Every one has heard of the splendid strengthening effects of salt water bathing, but few think of taking salt water baths in their own tubs. Sea salt can be bought in any drug store, and a large bag should be kept on hand in the bathroom.

When you come home tired out and nervous try a salt bath. You will find it invaluable for weakness and nervousness, and you will find that a month of the home salt bath treatment will take away all traces of that "tired feeling." In fact, the woman who bathes in salt water two or three times a week feels too vigorous and strong ever to know that tired sensation.

If the skin on the face or throat is flabby you will find a salt massage of the greatest benefit. This will make the skin firm and strong. Just take a half handful of salt and rub it into the skin—not too hard, for the roughness of the salt will irritate the flesh, but gently and evenly. After a soft but thorough salt massage wash the face off with cold water.

The action of the salt, whether used dry or in the bath, is to enliven the circulation and to stimulate the nerves. This in turn makes the skin clearer, the color better and the general surface firmer and smoother.

Salt as a tooth powder is also at its best, for it whitens the teeth and hardens the gums.

When salt is such an aid to health and beauty and is so very cheap every bathroom should hold it.

FALL CANNING.

Practical Hints on How to Preserve Fresh Fruits.

Generally speaking, preserving means the cooking of fruits in an equal weight of sugar, long enough for the fruit to keep without being air tight. Canning may be done with little or no sugar and just enough cooking to thoroughly heat the fruit, but air must be excluded.

The same general directions apply to each process.

Needed Articles.—Granite or porcelain lined kettles or stewpans, with bales or handles and lips for convenience in pouring.

Perhaps the two quart size is most used, but if one can afford it several sizes will be found very convenient.

A small, sharp steel paring knife or, better still, a silver plated fruit knife ground down to a fine edge, expressly for fruit paring. Other necessary articles—wooden spoons—some with slits, a wire spoon, silver spoons, large and small, a skewer, scales for weighing, a hair sieve, a tin strainer and a supply of cheesecloth.

Preparation.—Observe utmost cleanliness of hands, utensils and fruit. Avoid anything that tends to lessen color or flavor. Use only sound fruits and vegetables. Clean and scald jars and covers. Use new rubbers every season.

Blackberries.—Half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Currants.—Three-fourths cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Huckleberries.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Pineapples.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Pears.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Apricots.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil five minutes.

Peaches.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Cranberries.—One cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil forty-five minutes.

Crabapples.—Three-fourths cupful sugar to each pint, boil thirty minutes.

How to Utilize Odd Bits of Soap You Have Saved.

Save the odd bits of toilet soap, the more expensive and highly perfumed ones as well as the ivory. When you have a good collection let them simmer in a little water on the back of the stove. When quite dissolved add violet water or any desired perfume and a few drops of lemon juice. Pour into desired mold and allow to harden. A delightful perfumed soap will be the result. Treat all bits of yellow common kitchen soap by themselves. You will be surprised to see how much good soap you would have wasted had you thrown away the useless bits.

How to Cure Freckles and Not Injure Skin.

Many women acquire what are called summer freckles that appear almost immediately on exposure to the sun and disappear a little while after the victim stays in the house.

The best treatment for these summer freckles is to bathe them frequently with pure soap and water, using a good face brush and rubbing the freckles until they are almost irritated. This friction excites the circulation beneath the skin. A good cold cream should be applied after the scrubbing.

TO OUR READERS

Next April Tropico will elect three trustees. You are invited to use this column, stating your views, (under signature).

My article in your last issue, on our local government, has, as I expected, produced two things: First, I have received many messages of commendation for opening the campaign, while on the other hand I hear in certain quarters murmurs of dissatisfaction. Now this shows there is a difference of opinion in the city. Perhaps this is caused by our not being thoroughly posted on just what the administration has done and is going to do. Then, if my future articles taken from the records, will enlighten any citizen on the situation, I have at least done some good.

I have before me a circular letter issued April 13, 1914, signed by the candidates of the Voters' Club. This club, as you know, was victorious at the last election and has been in control since. This circular is headed: "A New Deal—A Square Deal at the Tropico City Hall," and contains eight planks, all of them they pledge to carry out.

In my next article I will take up some of these pledges and we will see if they have been strictly carried out. Also I will discuss the payment of between $5000 and $6000 to ex-City Engineer Edward M. Lynch.

FRANK H. DAVIS.

It is to be observed with interest that the Sentinel has opened a column for those concerned about the coming city election. In a letter by Mr. Davis it was stated that the public records would be quoted and the public fully informed as to past and present management.

Things have been rather quiet on the political Potomac, and if there are any matters that the citizens of Tropico should know concerning the city's affairs, let us hear of them now, and not after election.

If there are any bones in the municipal closet, let's hear them rattle; if there is anything bad in Denmark, and Mr. Davis has the facts, let him tell us.

W. C. ANDERSON.

Power of Deep Sea Waves.
In a high gale mile long waves, 200 feet from trough to trough and forty feet high, roar along the sea at twenty miles an hour with a weight of 60,000 pounds for every foot of their length. Upon these a 600 foot ship will rise like a floating leaf, but if the ill fated ship drifts upon a lee shore blows of 100,000 tons, delivered with fury, crush it like an eggshell.

Was It Spirit Or Illusion?

By F. A. MITCHEL.

There is nothing so strong in nature as the chains that draw two persons together, and nothing better typifies it than two vines that originally could have been broken apart by a child's delicate fingers, each becoming after a lapse of, say, half a century as large as an athlete's biceps and much harder to bend.

The most remarkable case of this kind came under my observation. I will relate the story.

Donald Gregory, when he was too young to remember the fact, became a playmate of a little girl about his own age, Ella Marston. Their parents' places were side by side, and the children, neither having brother or sister, were together all day. Then they went to the same kindergarten and afterward to the same school. Their first and only separation was when Donald went to college. They pined for each other, and he neglected his studies to write her long letters, receiving equally long replies. When the first examinations came on, though a bright fellow, he failed. This ended his college career. He returned to his love and was never again separated from her till half a century later, when death claimed her.

They were married when the groom was nineteen, the bride eighteen. A son was born to them and a daughter. The former lived; the latter died in infancy. Till the son came to manhood he remained with his parents. Then he broke away to engage in business at another location.

Even in their youth they had few intimate associates and after coming to middle age dropped away from anything social. Those who knew them wondered at this, for they were both attractive and popular. Efforts to get them into social undertakings always failed.

Mrs. Gregory died at seventy. It was a year after this that I made the acquaintance of their son, now a man of nearly fifty. Strange it is that with his parents' happy married life before him he never married. When his mother died he persuaded his father to come to live with him. I had made George Gregory's acquaintance some time before this, and when his father appeared on the scene George and I, both bachelors, were intimate, I being at his house frequently.

When I was introduced to his father I saw a handsome old gentleman with a florid complexion and white hair and mustache. It struck me that if I were a woman I would fall in love with him no matter what was his age. George told me of the close relationship between his father and his late mother, and when the latter died he feared his father would lose his reason. But his father seemed to settle down to an acceptance of his fate and in a measure apparently ceased to grieve. His son noticed something about him which he communicated to no one. I discovered it for myself.

One day when going to George Gregory's house I saw his father putting his night key into the door. He opened it, stepped back as if waiting for some one to enter, then went in himself. The matter made but little impression on me till later I heard the old gentleman talking to himself in the library. At first, thinking that he was reading aloud, I permitted myself to overhear him. I soon became aware that he was talking to some one whom he called "my dear." The two episodes together set me to wondering, and I narrated them to his son. George sighed and said:

"So you have noticed it. I have known that of which you have seen evidence ever since father came to live with me. He ever has my mother with him—just how I don't know. Whether he sees her spirit, whether he fancies that it is present with him, whether he hears her replies when he talks to her—all this is a puzzle to me. I have often heard him talking to her as you heard him, and he says the same things to her that he was used to saying while she lived, only they are more endearing. He was always during her life as gallant to her as when they were young lovers, and when he fancies she is with him he will not sit while she stands, will not go through a doorway without waiting till she has come before him. I have seen him come into the house after having been out of an evening and remove her wraps as tenderly as he ever did while she was with him in the flesh. He had a way of sometimes walking with her hand in hand, and since her death I have often seen him swinging his arm through the empty air as I often saw him do it when I was a boy."

"Do you observe," I asked, "whether after apparently being with her he is more or less gloomy?"

"He is never what we call gloomy, though there is a certain sadness always in his eyes. It seems to me that Providence, in whose sight such lover-like lives as were his and my mother's must be acceptable, has made some physical change in his brain which causes an illusion to comfort him till the day shall come when he will be reunited to her."

"Did it ever occur to you," I asked, "that the strong affection between him and your mother has enabled him to see and commune with her spirit?"

"It has," was the reply, "but I don't know."

Since then the same door has closed behind Donald Gregory that closed behind his wife.

HOW TO KEEP MOSQUITOES AWAY.

To keep mosquitoes away from one while asleep it is recommended that the following solution be prepared and a few drops put on the pillow and on a towel near the head of the bed:

Oil of citronella..... 1 oz.
Spirits of camphor..... 1 oz.
Castor oil..... 1 1/2 oz.

Another preparation for the same purpose is:

Oil of lavender..... 1 oz.
Alcohol..... 1 oz.
Castor oil..... 1 oz.

This is not as unpleasant as the other mixture, and a few drops can be sprinkled on the face and hands and on a towel hung at the end of the bed.

Orange peel burned in the room is also an efficacious mosquito killer. For mosquito bites plain soap applied to the bitten places is effective. Other remedies are ammonia, alcohol, glycerin, bicarbonate of soda, sugar, calcium chloride.

TEST FOODS.

Many Household Staples Found to Be Adulterated.

Housewives ought to have a bit of many kinds of knowledge. The perfect housewife must not only have a thorough knowledge of the cuisine, but she must also be an excellent business woman and know how to apply business methods to her home. She must have a practical acquaintance with chemistry and biology and must have the art of making a house into a home.

Just at present the women in the home need another kind of knowledge which will prove invaluable to them at many a time. That is how to know if their food is adulterated. There are, unfortunately, frauds in every line of work, and the food frauds always seize upon such occasions as the present, when the authorities are busy elsewhere, to perpetrate the worst crimes against the community. Probably foodstuffs all over will be adulterated and the wise housewife will learn how to detect the presence of foreign elements in the provisions she buys.

Butter is one of the first to suffer. Margarine has often been used as a substitute in the past and probably will be passed off many times in the future. While margarine is perfectly wholesome, still no woman wants to pay the price of butter for the less costly margarine. A reliable test is, melt a little bit in a spoon over a gas burner. Good butter froths a great deal, but makes very little noise. Margarine, on the contrary, crackles and bursts and makes little explosive sounds. After applying this test you can refuse to buy again at the same shop if you detect the presence of margarine in the substance which you bought as butter.

The easiest and commonest food to adulterate is milk. Watered milk is almost as common as plain water, but it is so easy to discover the fraud that no housewife need be taken in by it. Pour your milk into a pail or pot. Then take a fairly stout, very bright knitting needle and plunge it into the milk. If, on removal, a large drop of the fluid clings to the end of the needle for quite a time without falling off you may feel quite sure that the milk is all right. If, on the other hand, the liquid runs right off the steel needle and forms no lasting drop the milk has certainly been watered.

Mint Relishes.

Green Peas and Mint.—Shell green peas just before they are to be cooked. Line the top of a double boiler with green lettuce leaves, put the peas in, add a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, cover and cook until done, which will be about half an hour or perhaps forty minutes. Then drain, add a tablespoonful of finely minced mint, salt and pepper and two tablespoonfuls of butter.

Mint Sauce.—In taking your walks abroad at this season bring home with you if you can a handful of mint from the brookside. To make the sauce that goes so excellently well with spring lamb or game chop fine the well washed leaves of a bunch of mint, then pour over them a cupful of boiling water and add two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Cover and let stand in a cool place for an hour to fuse; then add a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of paprika and four tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Mix thoroughly and serve with the meat.

Mint Chutney.—Add to a handful of finely minced mint leaves a cupful of seeded raisins, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one of tomato ketchup and a saltspoonful of salt. Mash and mix until juicy; then serve in a bowl with cold meats.

Mint Sherbet.—Take six lemons, two oranges, two cupfuls of sugar, two cupfuls of water, one large bunch of fresh mint, the white of one egg and a piece of green leaf the size of a pea. Squeeze the juice from the lemons and oranges. Pour cold water over the peelings and put on the stove, allowing it to come to a boil; then pour it over the sugar and mint, which has been cut up fine. Cover it and allow it to steep for an hour. Then strain over the juice of the lemons and oranges. Dissolve the green leaf in a little of the mixture until it is clear and then add to the juices. Mix the ingredients together with the white of an egg, well beaten, and put in the freezer. Serve in sherbet glasses garnished with a tiny sprig of mint.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

DID you ever stop to think that good care of the toothbrush is almost as essential as good care of the teeth? Yet how few persons really take the proper care of either! Nothing spoils a pretty face so quickly as bad teeth, and the girl who has any regard for her appearance will watch both her brush and her teeth.

It never pays to invest in a cheap toothbrush. In the first place a bad set of bristles leave their work half done. They have not the necessary stiffness and resistance to clean the teeth well. Then the bristles in a cheap brush are not well fastened and are apt to fall out. This makes a cheap toothbrush a real menace, for if the bristles come loose in the mouth they are apt to slip down the throat, catch there and decay, or they may pierce through the walls of the digestive tract.

Buy a good brush and then take care of it. Before you use a brush for the first time soak it in a weak solution of bicarbonate of soda for two hours. This not only serves to disinfect it from shop handling, but it sets the bristles so that they will not fall out so readily.

It is better not to use a toothbrush for a longer period than three weeks at a time, and it is wiser to keep two brushes going at once. In this way one can be drying out and airing while the other is in use. Be sure that the brush is well rinsed and thoroughly clean of all tooth paste or dirt before hanging it up to dry. Once a week let it boil in clear hot water for about five minutes to kill any germs which may be lingering in the bristles and to disinfect it well.

The teeth should be brushed after each meal, before retiring and upon arising in the morning. The nightly cleansing, so often neglected, is in reality the most important of all. It is essential to brush the teeth both inside and out before retiring, so that the food particles will not stay in the crevices and decay overnight. Once a day or twice at the most is often enough to use tooth paste or powder. At other times wash the teeth with clear water.

Very often after a long illness it will be found that the teeth have begun to decay. This is usually laid down to the nature of the illness. In reality it is more often due to neglect of the teeth than to the ailment itself. During illness the teeth should be cleaned often, especially as they cannot be attended to by a dentist.

The best mouth wash, one which will help to harden the gums and will keep away tartar, can be made by dissolving a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda (ordinary baking soda) in a pint of water. Bottle this and keep it on hand for use. It is quite as good a cleanser as peroxide, and it is not so hard on the teeth. The peroxide is said to wear the enamel away.

Locust Plagues.

History mentions many pestilences caused by the decaying bodies of dead locusts. On one occasion so many locusts perished off the coast of Africa that a bank four or five feet high and fifty miles long was formed on the shore by their dead bodies, and the stench of them reached inland for 150 miles. In another part of Africa early in the Christian era a plague of locusts is said to have caused the death of 800,000 persons, and in 591 nearly as bad a plague occurred in Italy.—New York American.

What Is the Excuse?

If we are as highly civilized as we think we are and as humane, scientific and wealthy, as a nation, we claim to be what excuse have we to offer for permitting more than 1,500,000 people to be constantly ill from preventable disease and the lives of thousands to be annually sacrificed to ignorance and neglect?—Texas State Board of Health.
